

Daddy's Little Girl

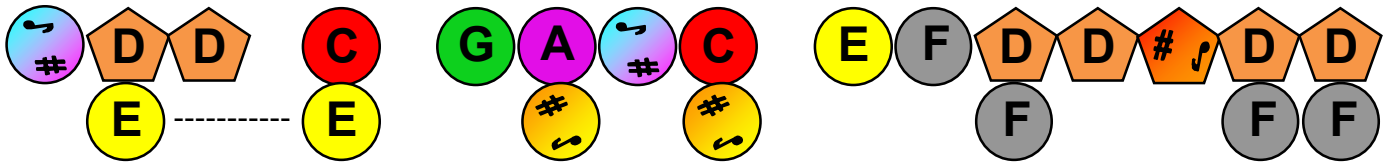

START

You're the end of the rainbow, my pot of gold You're Daddy's Lit - tle Girl to have and hold A precious gem is what you are You're Mommy's bright and shining star. You're the spirit of Christmas;

my star on the tree You're the Easter Bunny to Mommy and me.

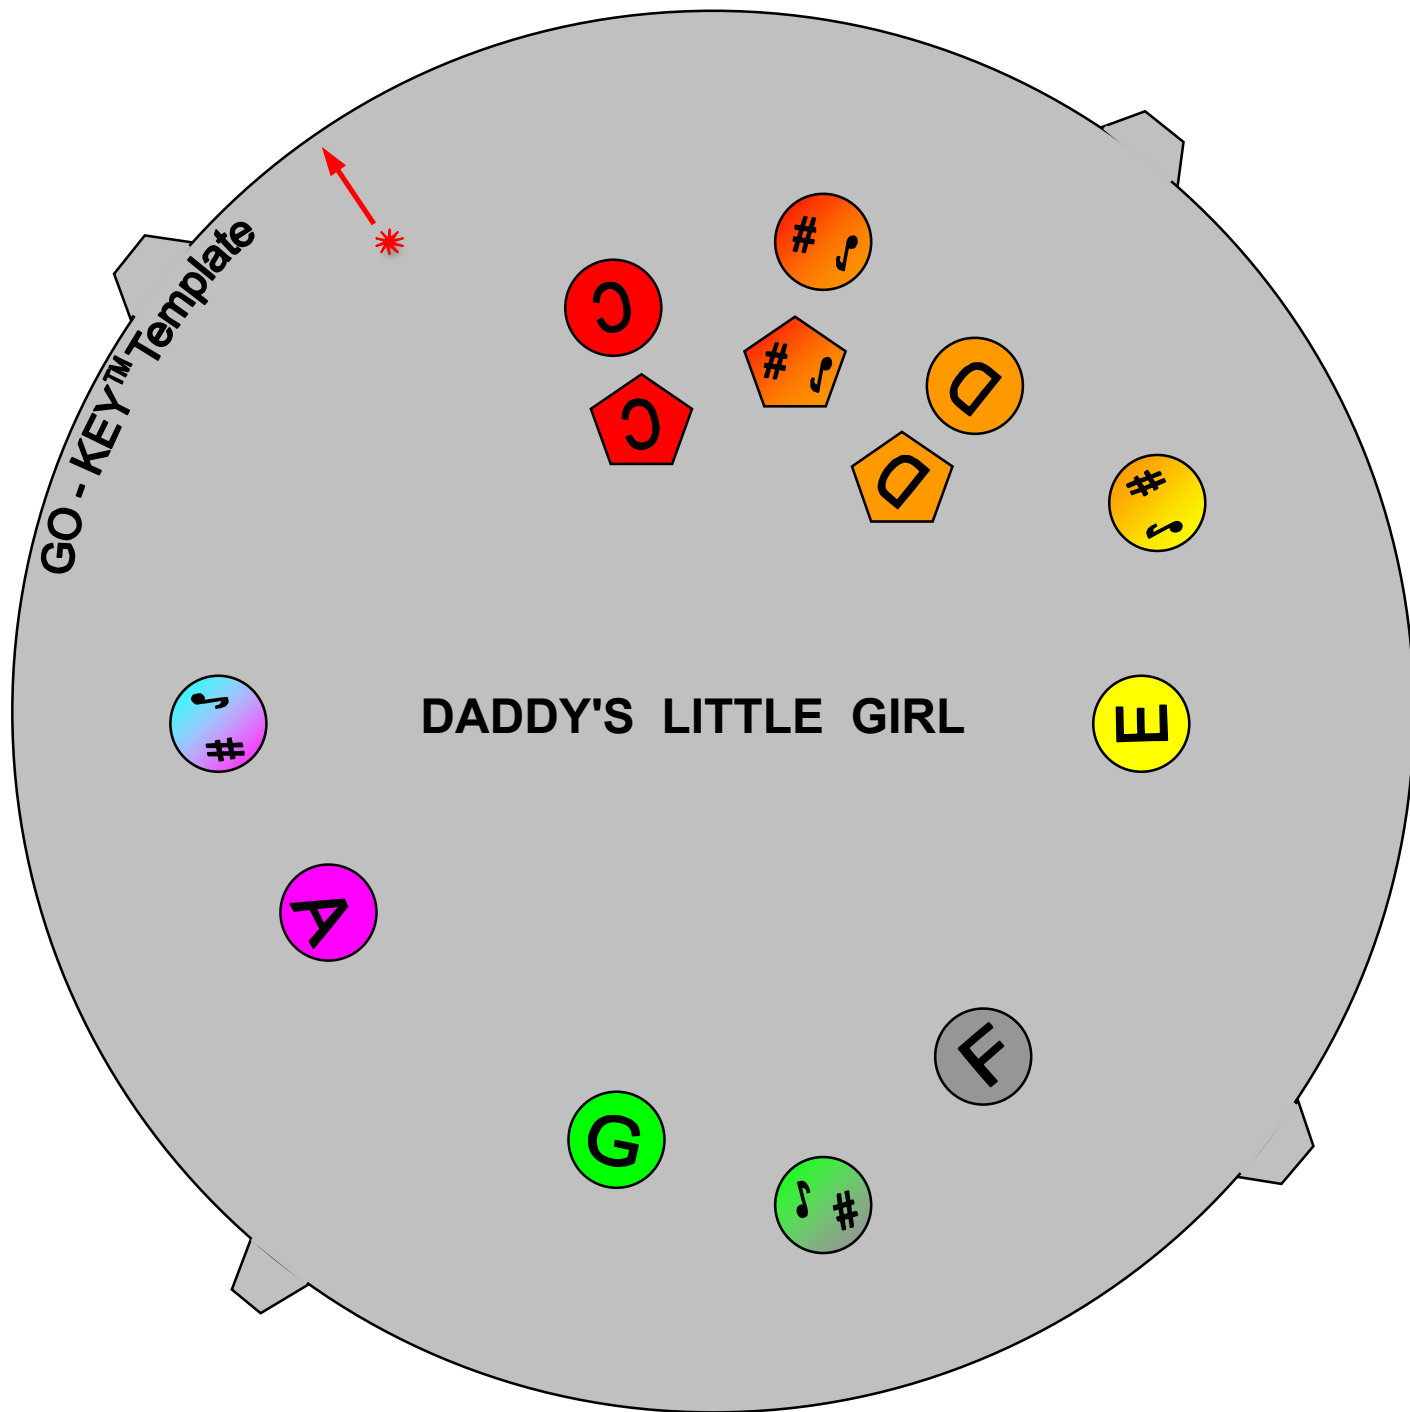

You're sugar, you're spice, you're everything nice and you're Daddy's

END

Little

Girl

History and Origin

"Daddy's Little Girl" is a classic song typically played at weddings while a bride dances with her father. The song's lyrics and music were first written by Robert Burke and Horace Gerlach in 1949.

Publisher

Beacon Music Co

Publication Place

New York

Notable Recordings:

1950, The song was recorded by British balladeer Steve Conway.

1950, The recording by the Mills Brothers was notably used as soundtrack in BioShock 2.

1963, Frank Fontaine on his ABC-Paramount single release.

1967, Recorded by Al Martino on Capitol Records.

2002, Michael Bublé in his second album, the Canadian release, Dream.